

Adventist School of Nursing Maruševec, Croatia

The school began in this castle. It was the property of the Pongratz family, and returned to its owner in 2000.

- ◎ The school was founded in 1970 as a Seventh Day Adventist denominational school but is now open to everybody. Students follow either a general high school curriculum or nursing program.

Boys dormitory, administration, and classrooms, after the castle was returned.

- ◎ As a boarding school our school offers its students the possibility of studying and living throughout the school year with their schoolmates, teachers and administrators, but it also admits many day students who live off campus with their families. Some of our students are from other countries, for example United States, Germany and Slovenia.

- ◎ The curriculum must follow the Croatian national program, with both general and nursing subjects in the nursing program.
- ◎ Clinical teaching is in the morning; classes are in the afternoon.

◎ We are taught to be hardworking, humble, loyal, tolerant, and helpful; to respect our environment and to choose a healthy lifestyle.
