The CCTST targets the strength or weakness of one's skill in making reflective, reasoned judgments about what to believe or what to do. The CCTST's administration time is 45 minutes; the format is 34 multiple choice questions.

- Test items present informational content in text-based & diagrammatic formats.
- Questions invite test takers to draw inferences, to make interpretations, to analyze information, to draw warranted inferences, to identify claims and reasons, and to evaluate the quality of arguments
- Test items supply the necessary content and contexts for applying one's thinking skills.

The minimum score for consideration by LLUSN is 13 on the CCTST.
